Norse and Viking Cultures in the Twenty-first Century

28-29 June 2014, University of Nottingham

This conference will explore what the Vikings and Norse culture mean today, in localities around Britain and Ireland with a Viking heritage, in tourism, and in popular culture. There will be talks, workshops and posters, drawing on the British Museum exhibition, Vikings: Life and Legend, and on the work of the AHRC-funded 'Languages, Myths and Finds' project.

The conference is free and open to all, however you must register to secure a place. For further information and a link for online registration, go to: <http://languagesmythsfinds.ac.uk/conference/>
